

The Institute for World Literature

8th annual Session

The University of Tokyo

2 July – 26 July 2018

Following our sessions in Beijing (2011), Istanbul (2012), Harvard (2013), Hong Kong (2014), Lisbon (2015), Harvard (2016), and Copenhagen (2017), the Institute invites you once again for a four-week session of seminars and lectures on the theory and practice of world literature, hosted by Professor Mitsuyoshi Numano at the University of Tokyo's beautiful Hongo campus. Directed by David Damrosch, the Institute is supported by Harvard and by five dozen institutional affiliates from around the world, guided by an international board of advisers.

Our 2018 session will offer seminars and lectures presented by leading scholars of world literature studies today:

Christopher Bush, Northwestern University
Pheng Cheah, University of California at Berkeley
David Damrosch, Harvard University
Wiebke Denecke, Boston University
Ursula Heise, UCLA
Mitsuyoshi Numano, University of Tokyo
Katharina Piechocki, Harvard University
Jing Tsu, Yale University
Delia Ungureanu, University of Bucharest
Zhang Longxi, City University of Hong Kong
